There can be no doub! about that. When the Bohemia did take the disabled vessel in tow on Der. 24th, the cable parted in the night. It is supposed to have been out. Whether it was cut by the people on the Umbria to escape salvage or by those on the Bohemia in the apprehension of danger to that vessel is at present a mystery and there is very little disposition on either side to give information to the public. Was Capt. McKay justified in jeopard izing the lives of his passengers in order to save money to his owners? Was it even right of him to disregard the suffer .... $3.30 ings and auxisties of those on board for any such selfish consideration? There certainly was danger in the condition of the vessel and the stormy weather, how ever confident the captain may have felt of his ability to take the Umbria safely into port. The responsibility he incurred was fearful, and if loss of life had followed his action would have amounted to a crime.

as a breeder of stock for sale.

In Vienna the latest form of the autograph raze requires the guests at dinner to write their names in pencil upon the table cloth This is more popular than the autograph cushion as we have it here in America. The original writing is worked over in colored slik and a permanent trophy is secured.

Cleaning and Frosting Brass. Acid should never be employed in cleaning rass, as the metal soon become dull after such treatment. The application of olive ing with scap-water, constitutes the beat method of polishing and preserving the brilliancy. To frost brass and give it a decorative finish, boll the article in potash, rinse in water, plunge in nitric acid, wash again, ther dry in hot sawdust, and give the still hot metal a coat of varnish.

Banger in Kitchen Processes.

" Don't you know," said a physician when he saw jelly cooling outside a kitchen winsceure organisms for investigation we expose confined mallenant germs? The gelatine speedily attracts and holds them. I'm afraid your flavored gelatine does the same. Cool the jelly if you must, but cover it with a piece of sheer close muslin, or, better, if you have it, some pieces of glass taken from some broken window-pane." It is to be leared that kitchen processes are sources of illness more often than is imagined. In many city houses the little kitchen sonex, where stands the refrigerator and where various catables are kept, is directly against a drain and closet. Yet here stand daily uncovered milk, butter, often custards and puddings and various other absorbents. The average cook is absolately ignorant of sanitary cause and effect. and the eternal vigilance of the house mother is the family's onlef safeguard.

Style in Tresses.

Parisian "clegantes" are now adopting a tyle of colffure infinitely superior to that which has recently been in vogue and which was so injurious to the hair by reason of the amount of crimping which it required -s process which is apt to prove fatal even to the most luxuriant of treases. According to the new fashion the bair is brushed up towards the top of the head and is coiled smoothly over the brow. The forehead is veiled by a light fringe of soft, fluffy little curis artistically tangled and for evening wear diamond tine tablespoonful of sait, one of sifted stars, crescents or other jewelled ornaments

> A Beautiful Parsee. The Parsee women are exceedingly handsome, slight and delicate in frame, with small well-shaped hands and feet. Their complexlons are fair, and large, handsome black eyes with finely arched eyebrows give to their countenances that peculiar Oriental charm

The subject of this sketch is the wife of well-to-do merchant of Burmal, where she cuts quite a dash as a belle in Parsis circle them, and one young man with a careworn look respect, congeniality of tastes.
